WITHOUT A JURY DIVISION

Judge Burlingame Charges the Jury in an Impartial Manner-A Verdict

The jury made short work of deciding the case against Margaret C. Cook, liciting females to enter souses of ili fame. It took just ten minutes from the time they left their seats before they returned and pronounced her guilty.

The morning was devoted to the arguments, each attorney having one hour in which to argue the case. Judge Burlingame read the law, which is as follows: "Every person who shall keep a house of ill fame, resorted to for the purpose of prostitution or lewdness, and every person who shall solicit or in any manner induce a female to enter such a house for the purpose of fraud, force or deceit, or in any like open after hours.

A stay of sixty days was granted in the celebrated Nugent case in Judge Adsit's court.

The judge charged that the people must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the respondent did solicit Little l'ail and Emma Ham to enter a house of ill fame for the purpose of prostituor near Woodville and that the soliciting was for the purpose of these girls becoming prostitutes. If she asked the girls to go to Woodville to work in a boarding nouseshe would not be guilty, and if the jury was convinced that this was the fact they should so find. Anna Nelson and Retta Tibbets were allowed to testify as to a conversation held be-tween them and the respondent for the purpose only of attempting to show an admission on the part of the respondent that she did keep a house of ill-fame and had no tendency to show that she did solicit the two girls.

Were Not Notoriously Bad.

The evidence showed that Lillie Pail was but 17 or 18 years old, and had not become a notoriously bad woman, and had not until a few days before the alleged soliciting committed an act of prostitution. It was not a question whether Anna Nelson was a time or not. Testim my on that point was allowed solely to affect the credibility of the witness. She was not one of the persons whom it was charged nad been solicited. The testimony of Probate Committee. nad been solicited. The testimony of witnesses that Lilly Pail was drunk was allowed to affect her credibility. It was no defense if she was drunk when solicited, if solicited she was, when solicited, if solicited she was.

It was not a question of removing prostitutes from the city for the purpose of getting rid of them. The statute was simed at the person who is so deprayed as to become the go-between of innocent girls and houses of illfame. It would not be necessary to a conviction that up to the time the respondent came to this city and solicited, as charged in the information; that there was any house of prostitution in that was sty house of prostitution in that vicinity at all. If the respondent had a house or if she did not then have a house, but proposed to rent or build one for the purpose of prostitution, and did so solicit those girls, or either of them, to go with her for the purpose a leged when it should be finished and furnished. The respondent is charged with soliciting these girls. No defini-tion of the word solicited would be as simple as the word itself. County Clerk Eddy was asked yesterday how he would proceed in the collecof fees in court, since the judges | early and get one. had ruled out the cash in advance sys-tem and the board of supervisors had just granted the county cier's immunity from responsibility in the matter. He replied that he could hardly tell as yet the best way of getting at it. He had scarcely had a change of testing the matter yet. He had, however, so with the judges, and believed that they would be willing that a squaring up of fees should be demanded before allowing final decrees or judgments to be en-tered. It is sitogether probable that the amendment drafted by ex-County Clerk Harvey, providing for uniform fee systems, will be passed by the legislature, which will put an end to the present difficulties. The uniform system contemplates payment of certain amounts at the beginning and closing

The slow speed saves to the purchaser the extra shafting and belting, which is quite an item, but the most important feature is the prolonged life and the efficiency of the machine. Another feature of equal importance, which the old-fashioused high speed machine prohibited, is installing plants in blocks, hotels and business houses, owing to the vibration caused by the fast running belts, motors and dynamos. The Auditorium hotel in Chicago is taking out its Edison electric light plant and substituting for it one of low speed, on account of jarring the hotel, at an expense of $50, for it one of low speed, on account of jarring the hotel, at an expense of $50,000. We have recently had to do the same thing at the Courtright house in Newaygo. Their dynamo was put in the basement, but owing to the jarring it had to be put in a detached building. The same fact is true of the Impermithotel, the Standard theater and hundreds of others in New York. The Peninsular General Electric company will be glad to make estimates for installing isolated electric lighting plants, and as a recommendation of its past can say that it has put in more lighting plants in Western Michigan than the entire electric field together.
